

Abstract – Carleton-Gertsch

Actively using grammar!

Pupils in Year 10 upwards generally have a good, basic command of English.

However, there are certain grammatical points that still cause difficulties, including sequence of tenses, if clauses, modal auxiliaries, word order and prepositions.

This talk will focus on how to help pupils identify their individual weaknesses and will provide different suggestions for how to focus on these points and practise them. The talk will show how different media can be actively used to support the learning process.
